Requirements

1. Stages of computations should be organized into pipes.
2. Each stage should be able to concurrently process many items.
3. Each item should be give to the next stage as soon as the current one ends.
4. All types should be usable.
5. Elements should proceed through the stages in order.
6. Concurrency should be hidden.